ONE INVENTION THAT IS BADLY NEEDED IS A RADIENT COOLER. IT WOULD MAKE A HOUSE AS COOL IN SUMMER AS IT IS IN WINTER.

Nineteen-year-old London youth charged with murdering a woman says he's extremely sorry it happened. Well, as long as he's alive.

A news item says close now is being made on the shell case of insects. Guess that's what they make wooden underscores of.

Greco is asking for the return of the Elgin marbles. Aw! give the kid his alibi.

No news is good news, but you'll never make an editor believe it.

A church advertisement says: "The pastor will preach on 'Is This Reasonable? Unusual? Dumb? Or What?' every Sunday."

We read that the big slogan already being made on the result of the coming election. We're willing to bet it won't result in a Labor government.

A writer has discovered that skirts as short as those in fashion today were worn centuries ago. Sure, but they then cost em dollars then.

From a reader: "Steel Enggineerwoman wants work or washing—she is not good at washing as light recreation."

We read that the big-mouthed bass is becoming a very rare fish. Wish the big-mouthed tenor were.

NO LAURELS ARE GIVEN FOR DRIVING THE TRAIN AT THE LEVEL CROSSINGS ONLY A HALO.

A school for radio announcers is to be opened. We suggest they taught the deaf and dumb also language.

We'll believe Mr. Meighen has some ability if he can fix an election date in September without clashing with the fall fairs.

"Jamaica Wants Canadian Capital" is a headline we made up. That makes it unanimous.

Moderns may wonder whether the added wickedness of Sodom and Gomorrah wasn't just publicity stunts.

THE MOST IMPRESSIVE SPORTS SWEATER WEVE SEEN IS THE ONE THAT MAN PLAYING TENNIS.

Rudolph Valentino has challenged an editor to a duel. What's he trying to do, break into comedy?

GOOD NEWS OR BAD? FEW NEWS WIRE "HAD AN ESTATE IN THE UNITED KINGDOM, ARREST ROMANIA SAYS IN-CLUE TO THE SILENT COMPAGNIE CONTINUE ON THE DOMINIAN FRONTIER" WITH THE KNOWLEDGE TO SAY "HOORAY! OR "TOO BAD!"

Not displayed by Louise Bond. From an eastern paper, "Sam Clark took Gordon Bitter's wife for a walk the other day. Wonder who has any relation to Johnny Walker?"

A NEW ENCYCLOPEDIA

To play in the blinding sun. And not to be jump and run. In tennis court.

To start out running the ten miles big. Or start out running the pole to fly. Or train across the desert dry.

Or statistic that people pull for fun.

To hit with one hand half a ton.

And you what's your age and should go ahead and do the same.

But should one come to you a day

"If you'll split cordwood half a day

And you know what's your age and Then you may shrug. That's work!

destructive storms bring relief but add to Casualties

Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 23—Destructive storms brought weather relief today to New England and the middle Atlantic states, but increased to almost 100 the toll of heat from a heat wave that piled on new high temperature records.

Within 24 hours, 57 deaths were added by heat and storm to Wednesday's total of 102.

The most severe heat wave in recent years has been in man and country since early yesterday and the heat sweltered all last night.

There were 22 deaths in New England, 10 in New York, 10 in New Jersey, 2 each in Washington and Canada, and one each in Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island.

The record high temperature recorded was 107 in Hagerstown, Md.

The mercury reached 104 in Boston, 103 in New Haven, and Reading, 102 in Chester, Penn.

Moderns were temporarily insane in Philadelphia.

Dogs maddened by the heat, ate people in Boston and Lowell, and ran amuck on the roofs. St. Armands, Boston, New Haven, and Lowell, reported an invasion of the bear guard, the beaches and mountain resorts.

The Sooner the Better.

Seeing that an election has to be held, the date which the Mail and Empire heard that somebody in Toronto had heard that: Mr. Meighen had selected would do about as well as any so far as the West is concerned. Unless it were a date as far this date of September 14th as the election laws allow.

A September election is objectionable in that it will find the Western farmer busy. But so would any other date between now and freeze-up.

And the Western farmer can better afford to take a day off in harvest time to vote the Meighen government off of office than the country could afford to have it stay in office until the Western crop has been threshed and hauled to market.

The Crops.

Reports from many parts of the Prairie West, not excluding points in Central Alberta, are that general rainfall would be more welcome than general election.

Western farmers fail to live up to its reputation as the month when copious and widely-extended downpours provide the crops of this district with the bulk of the moisture supply required to mature them.

Rains in July have been too few in number and too far between in location to produce the uniform and even crop which ordinarily makes the landscape at this season an unbroken sweep of beauty and promise.

The Central Alberta crop tends too much to the condition called "patchy" to measure up in the aggregate to what is expected of it at this time of year. In some local crops are splendid. In others there are also good crops.

Early rains in the sections hitherto denied their share would do much to restore the high promise of the average yield that was based on the uniformly excellent start given the crops by the rains of late May and early June.

Practically all the staple crops, Central Alberta will have a big crop of grain to rear, but the benefits will not be distributed over the farming area in the way that makes for prosperity and contentment everywhere.

Echoes From the South.

The great Florida boom is petering out in a series of smaller imitations like the popping of fingers after a bath.

That sound of crackling that comes from the sunny southland is not the noise of machine guns lurking in this Egadness. It is made by the longing down of banks which have gone broke because speculators were allowed to draw from the money of other people and scatter it to the winds in the greatest real estate gamble ever staged.

Canadian banks, operating under the much-condemned Canadian banking law, do not always accommodate the would-be borrower to the extent of his expansive ambitions. Sometimes they run on the side of caution, while a farmer or other business man seeks capital with which to finance a wealth-producing enterprise.

But, with all their faults, Canadian banks are depositaries into which a man can put money with pretty good assurance that when he wants it again he can find the door open and the cashier doing business at the same stand.

The collapse of the Florida boom might be regarded as an unmitigated blessing if nobody got hurt in the crash but the speculators who made money and lived high at the game of taking chances with other people's money.

The tragedy of the disaster is the hard luck of the people who put their money in the banks for safe-keeping, which money the banks allowed the gay and giddy gamblers to play with.

A Service to the West.

Prince Albert Liberals have done a service to the entire country in asking Hon. Mackenzie King to stand for re-election in the constituency, a service which the Liberals of every other Western riding would be proud to render.

The nomination of Mr. King in Prince Albert means his election. And that means that he can spend practically the whole of the campaign preaching the gospel of Western development in service which is important to every Western voter.

The Mackenzie King Government was more a "Western" Government than any previous Ministry Canada ever had. Besides the Premier, three Ministers, each in charge of a department directly concerned in the promotion of Western progress for Western development.

The policy of the Mackenzie King Government was the kind that might be expected from a Government strongly representative of Western interests. Wider markets for farm products, better facilities for getting them to market and the increased production by cheapening the implements of production, were all cardinal principles in that policy.

Western voters will have the privilege of voting for themselves, by voting for the restoration of the Government whose program was based on reconstruction and progress. The Western Canadian has the hope of prosperity for the future.

Every one has a stake in the West. The country stands to gain if the Mackenzie King Government, with its contingent of Western Ministers and its Western policy, is restored. Westerners generally, without much regard to traditional party lines, will be glad to see Mr. King in the West. Mr. King is destined to be identified with a Western riding, and that nomination for a "safe" seat will enable him to spend the time fighting for the West where fighting needs to be done.

THE YOUNG DOCTOR

They said he was a doctor six or seven months ago. They gave him a diploma he could frame and proudly show.

And they said: "Get out and practice and just show 'em what you know."

Now he's never been a doctor, but a lot of them I've met.

And that first year, so they tell me, is a year they WISH the practice slow in growing, and the mustache

and the scarcity of people with the measles or a rash.

"I've a very fine diploma," he explained, "upon a peg. But if this doesn't happen I shall soon be forced to beg."

The older doctors listened to his dismal tale of woe. And a flood of reminiscence then it seemed began to flow.

They had all been youthful doctors in the distant long ago.

They had all sat down and waited through that terrifying year.

With a good mind and knowledge ready for a promising career, they grew these first mustaches as old as their grey hair.

I still see that youthful doctor with the sadness in his eye, sitting bravely in his office while the sick world When the first poor patient finds him. Oh, I hope he doesn't die!

DEATH ON THREE PLANES

The world's champion spaghetti star died out in Los Angeles yesterday.

He advertised that he ate twelve hundred pounds of spaghetti a day, and ate a mile at the rate of a mile of spaghetti a minute. People who frequented the restaurant pages of the morning paper you read of death again.

A farmer in western Texas heard his wife scream when she heard a report of a gun shot. He rushed to the scene and found the woman had been bitten by a rattlesnake.

He stuck the poison from the wound and saved her life.

But through a crack in the lip some of the poison entered his eye. He steadily grew worse and the next day was dead.

The first was on the plane of animals.

The second was on the plane of men.

The third was on the plane of nations.

OUT OUR WAY

By Williams

Asquith's doctrine was re-therhood of families can be dependent on the strength of the nation. The argument will make a strong case for the Empire's effectiveness in Canada. What the King's representatives do in England, the King's representatives do in Canada. This is Mr. Meighen's position.

BROTHERHOODS

Toronto Telegram, July 23, 1926. This whole country is a home to a wide brotherhood of international love. We have the home of many a great brotherhood of family love.

Let us dream of some near and dear relative drop a property into the hands of an individual or individuals and watch the process of division.

Let us dream of some dynasty or people drop a territory into the hands of a brotherhood of nations, and the nations fight right as families fight for an undivided estate.

One wide brotherhood of international love, and we have no need to dream trouble between nations any more than a brotherhood of family love has trouble between brothers and sisters.

Brotherhood of nations and brotherhood of families.

The New Governor General Gives Proof of His Non-Partizanship

Associated Press Cable

LONDON, July 23.—"It will be a privilege and a duty to serve, not only to help Canada achieve her great purpose, but also to do my utmost to assist the Canadian people in the cause of the dominion."

That was the promise of Raton, Canada's new governor general, made in statement in the course of an address on his new post here Thursday. The address was attended, among other notables, by the new Canadian prime minister, Sir William Lyon Mackenzie King; Mr. H. D. Amer, secretary for the dominion; Sir George Stewart, Canadian high commissioner in London.

Viscount Willingdon paid a deep tribute to Lord Bessborough, who died recently at the age of 85.

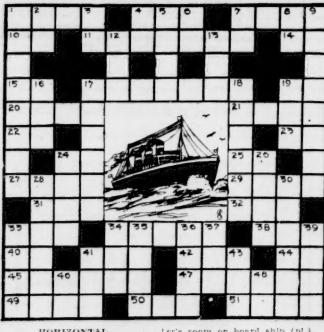

For the benefit of those who judge from his past record that his early political career that he might be a "patriot," the prime minister said that this was the fourth post he had held on account of his growth of appointments.

VISION

Will you be RICH or POOR? It depends largely upon your VISION.

CAN YOU clearly see the conditions composing the oil situation in Alberta today? Can you read and interpret them and construct them into the bold picture of the future? Have you vision?

First you must see these conditions clearly. Here is a great area upon the eve of a big petroleum production—geologists freely predicting that it will be the world's greatest oil field, practical men proving up the structure, the attention of the "powers that be" in the industrial world fixed upon it.

You must then consider what this means. . . . Industry eagerly alert for the precious fluid, searching the globe for the hidden sources of the vital stuff which turns the wheels of the world.

CONSIDER that Canada is paying $12,000,000 a year to foreign countries for gasoline and petroleum products; that Alberta, with one well alone producing more gasoline than all the rest of Canada together, and with billions of dollars worth more under ground, is sending millions of dollars abroad to buy the product of foreign wells and refineries.

Consider that this money can be kept in Canada, much of it right here in Alberta, if we have the vision and enterprise to manufacture our own gasoline from our own crude oil. . . . Alberta Refineries Limited, a local company, is producing "Pep" gasoline from the crude oils of the Wainwright field, right at our door. The demand exceeds the present supply and the plant is being extended.

REFINERIES DISTRIBUTORS LIMITED, a company organized to market and distribute "Pep" products, to build and maintain "Pep" Service Stations and to extend these as fast as production is increased, now comes into the field to assist in this production.

This company will erect a "Cracking Plant" which, by means of a new scientific process, will extract from 50 to 70 per cent of gasoline from the Wainwright crude oil.

Refineries Distributors Limited will help to retain in Alberta the money that has been paid to foreign producing and refining companies. Its scope is wide, and in this pioneer basic industry lies one of the finest opportunities for Albertans to profit from the natural resources of the province.

CONSIDER these conditions carefully. Bring your faculties of vision to bear upon them. Can you see the trend of future events?

Exercise your qualities of courage and enterprise. Do not throw aside or put off the impulse which follows your consideration of this opportunity to participate in the glorious future of Alberta.

"Among the faculties of mind which distinguish the rich man from the pauper, the most outstanding is Vision—the ability to see clearly conditions as they exist, to realize their significance, and to reason from them the trend of future events.... Almost without exception, rich and potentially rich men are endowed with Vision.... Poor men are noticeably deficient in Vision"

"When the Standard Oil Trust was dissolved, it developed that 60 per cent of the profit in petroleum was made by the refining end."

"Petroleum is one of our most valuable natural resources.... The refining of petroleum must become our foremost industry."

"Early day gold seekers overlooked the rich sulphide ores which were almost pure gold, but which did not glitter. . . . Modern Science touched them with her magic hand. Millions of dollars were taken from the rocks of Goldfield, thrown aside by the placer miners looking for seeds of yellow gold. . . . Think this over!"

"PEP" is the appropriate name given to the gasoline product of Alberta Refineries Limited, produced from the crude oil of the Wainwright field.

"PEP" has justified its name as a lively, volatile, anti-knock gasoline which motorists insist upon after once having used it. Today the present "PEP" plant is inadequate for the demand.

+Wonderful Work of the Cracking Plant

Prof. Gustav Egloff of the Universal Oil Products Company Research Laboratories, in a lecture before the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, spoke emphatically upon the wonderful economy and value of the "Cracking Plant" in the production of high grade anti-knock Gasoline from crude oil.

He claimed, and showed by tests and actual production in many fields, that by the Dubois process, from 50 to 70 per cent gasoline can be extracted from the crude and showed that from the Kevin Sunburst crude this percentage is always obtainable. The heavier crude from the Smack-over field is mentioned as showing "the wonderful potentialities of this process."

"One of the wonder oil fields of the United States is the Smack-over Arkansas, which is still producing 1,000 barrels per day, while 100 barrels of crude oil yield 51,192 gallons of heavy oil. This oil, of asphaltic characteristics, is not very satisfactory as a fuel oil due to its emulsified water, high sulphur content and other properties.

"The general inquiry when a new Smack-over well was brought in 'What will they do with it after they get it?'

"One leading oil man stated that Smack-over 'Heavy crude' had everything in it it should not have for a refinery." Yet, despite these pessimistic statements, Smack-over heavy oil is being continually distilled and into 50% gasoline. Smack-over heavy crude oil production of 163,000 barrels daily can be converted into 81,500 barrels of gasoline per day by the cracking process."

"The present issue, for the purpose of carrying on the immediate program of the company, is 30,000 Preference Shares, of which 10,000 shares have already been sold. The Preference Shares are offered in units of 1 at par $10.00, and each of these Preference shares carries a bonus of 1 Common Share.

REFINERIES Distributors Ltd. was organized with a Dominion Charter, capitalized at $1,000,000, divided into 90,000 8% Preference Shares with a par value of $10.00 each; and 100,000 Common Shares with a par value of $1.00 each. Paid up capital is $200,000.

The company was organized to market the "PEP" products of the Alberta Refineries Ltd., and also to produce gasoline and other products from crude petroleum by means of a cracking plant, this plant employing the Dubois process, a great scientific and economic advance over the ordinary refining plant, extracting from 3 to 5 times as much gasoline from the crude oil.

The present issue, for the purpose of carrying on the immediate program of the company, is 30,000 Preference Shares, of which 10,000 shares have already been sold. The Preference Shares are offered in units of 1 at par $10.00, and each of these Preference shares carries a bonus of 1 Common Share.

The initial program of the company is to erect and maintain a number of Service Stations throughout the Province for the marketing of "PEP" gasoline and petroleum products, a profit of 3¢ per gallon clear of freight being available from this source alone at the present market prices.

Also to erect a "Cracking Plant" at a cost of $150,000. This will have a capacity of 1,000 bbls. of crude oil and will produce from this a minimum of 500 bbls. of anti-knock gasoline every twenty-four hours. At 35 gallons to the barrel, this shows a total output of 17,500 gallons a day.

Apart from the individual profit of the cracking plant unit working at capacity, the output marketed through the service stations shows a distributing profit of $25.00 per day net. This alone will show a handsome dividend on a $1,000,000.00 capitalization in addition to the 8% per annum on the preferred shares.

Detailed figures will show this enterprise to be one of the very highest potentiality for profit. We shall be pleased to send a digest of the situation, based upon actual conditions, to the earnest investor.

In the meantime the soundness of the proposition will appeal to the investor who realizes that these pioneer enterprises in industry based directly upon natural resources, reap the rich reward.

The VANITY CASE

by CAROLYN WELLS

©1926 by G.P. PUTNAM'S SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY
By Carolyn Wells, Long Island, in an elegant bungalow lived Perry Heath, an artist, a cold, bland beauty
and wealthy in every right, was it not? He was his husband, but she tolerated him.
Health for his part tolerated
her. His flirtations with other women, and, despite an unusual number of them, and of which he was not ashamed, gave her a moment's look which told her that not everything was as it seemed.

At the time the story opens,
she was a widow, the owner of two houses, a dairymanager, a Miss Myra Heath, and, with Perry, and at a bridge game, Myra is proposed to. The proposal infatuates her for her husband that she repulses her sharply.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Good gracious! I don't want him to be here. I'll get off the chair arm and proudest about the room."

"I knew you didn't," and Myra's voice grew sharper, "but you play with him and he poor fool, fall for him."

"Fool, fool, Myra!" Heath cried in surprise, and then, with a smile, took her play with me if she likes! I like it myself."

"I said this merely to rouse his wife's temper, for, as a matter of fact, he was not a fool, but a man he was just in the mood for his wives."

"I know you do," Myra looked at him coldly, "you like any girl who has a good figure, and you grab at you're a devil, you grab at any woman with date or war-paint on her face, and you grab at any
eyes."

"I sat on your ears, too, and Bunny impulsively pushed her
toward the door."

"I'm fed up with you! And,
unless you transfer to another
of address, some other man—

"What's the jealousy?" and
Bunny threw her arms round Myra's
neck and kissed her."

Perry Heath laughed. "She's a bit embarr-
rassed by the older woman's outburst, but she's still smiling at him, and rather welcomed it. It added excitement to the situation."

"Let me alone," and Myra flung
the card on the table.

"You seem to be," and Bunny
stood a pace off, and scanned her
critically.

Perry Heath laughed.

"You can't be," he said. "One
can't be jealous of a man one
assumes."

"You can," Myra declared. "I do scorn you—you're little and pretty."

Bunny laughed at it, and gavily stuck it in the corner of the frame of one of Heath's best sketches that hung on the studio wall.

"You're a trash artist and a mere apology for a man. But you are my husband, and my dignity and my wife's good name are more important than anything else."

"I refuse to put up with it," she said. "It's my husband's fault."

"Wait a minute," said Heath in
a drawing tone, "before you proceed,
what about your own actions with
the girls?"

"Oh, I know you do," Myra said
with a smile. "You grab at any
woman with date or war-paint on
her face, and you grab at any
eyes."

"I sat on your ears, too, and Bunny impulsively pushed her
toward the door."

"I'm fed up with you! And,
unless you transfer to another
of address, some other man—

"What's the jealousy?" and
Bunny threw her arms round Myra's
neck and kissed her."

Perry Heath laughed. "She's a bit embarr-
rassed by the older woman's out-
burst, but she's still smiling at him, and rather welcomed it. It added excitement to the situation."

"Let me alone," and Myra flung
the card on the table.

Perry Heath laughed.

"You can," Myra declared. "I

The woman with a serpent's

"I don't know when I shall die,
but I know I'm not far from it."

"Not now," said Myra Heath, "but the phase before."

"I'm dumb with surprise."

Bunny was joyously excited,

and Heath himself was frankly

surprised.

"Sam Anderson is a thousand times better than you are," Myra went

on. "Anderson is another candidate."

"(To Be Continued)

[Larry, but Myra snatched back the conversational ball. "And anyway, he'd make a better president than Perry, who he may not be. I imagine Perry is president of the board of governors," said, carelessly. "But don't think I can see through this grade of Myra. You know that as we graduated to have too much to do with a club in Harbin Park, even to the point of not attending."

"Yes, I do," Myra admitted. "Let me tell you, I'm not the only one of their men for president. The Gardens have no call to mix with us. Perry is a good man, but he's not the one to go over there to see that the Garden Club let him do so. Let him be a member of the club, and then he can be president."

"All right, I'm going," said Heath.

He could not refuse the contradiction;

since it pestered us. We've got to see that he's up to us. Give me a light, will you?"

He held a cigarette to his lips while Bunny picked up one of the portfolio sketches and held it up, in elaborate lettering.

"The Work of Perry Heath."

"I'm not going to be talking
up and closing the portfolio."

"Oh, that's all right," said Myra.
"There was an exhibition here last summer,
and I'm sure you'll be interested in
my collection of masterpieces. It
is such a gem of Spencerian work,

and I'm sure the Club members will
be interested in it."

The lettering on the card was Spencerian, and further
embellished with the strange bird
and flower motifs which the Spencerians were wont to decorate.

Bunny laughed at it, and gavily stuck it in the corner of the frame of one of Heath's best sketches that hung on the studio wall.

"All right, then," Perry. "Myra
draws your name from the card
and the Club president."

"The card?" asked Myra, "I never get enough for that. The idea of the Country Club wanting a copy of my sketch is a bit of a surprise."

"They little know your limitations!"
said Heath.

"Wait a minute," said Heath in
a drawing tone, "before you proceed,
what about your own actions with
the girls?"

"Oh, I know you do," Myra said
with a smile. "You grab at any

PRIVY COUNCIL GIVES CHILD TO QUEBEC MOTHER

Judgment Handed Down
in Case Forcibly Through
All Courts

Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 23.—Edward P.
Morrell announced yesterday that the Privy Council has granted the request of the Quebec mother that her son be given back to her.

The girl was born a few months after the death of her father, and was brought up by her mother.

Now, however, the mother wants the child back, and the Quebec mother has been granted her request.

Mr. Stevenson, a Roman Catholic and when claiming her child had said she had been compelled to bring the child up in the Roman Catholic faith.

Mr. Stevenson, however, said she had been compelled to bring the child up in the Roman Catholic faith.

Inter-Marriage Blots
Our Race Distinctions

Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 23.—An intermarriage in Hawaii is to be a white child, and the mother knows to what race his motherhood is the belief of the Hawaiian and the University of Hawaii.

Thirty-five percent of the married population of white men in the islands are Negroes, and the Negroes are intermarrying with white men here owing to the presence of Negro women.

The pure-bred Hawaiians and Portuguese are disappearing, he said, and the Negroes and the part-Portuguese groups are the result of this biological assimilation. The result is still in doubt, says the author.

He said the things that come to him who waits are sarcastic remarks from the traffic cop.

MANITOBA WILL SEND
STRONG CRICKET TEAM
TO EDMONTON CONTEST

Associated Press
WINNIPEG, July 23.—The Manitoba team for the Western Canada Cricket Association tournament at Edmonton tomorrow will be captained by R.
H. Biggs, body of J. Charlsworth,
George Davis, A. Down, A. H. Johnson
and C. White.

"Sam Anderson is a thousand
times better than you are," Myra went

on. "Anderson is another candidate."

"I don't know when I shall die,
but I know I'm not far from it."

"Not now," said Myra Heath,

"but the phase before."

"I'm dumb with surprise."

Bunny was joyously excited,

and Heath himself was frankly

surprised.

"Sam Anderson is a thousand
times better than you are," Myra went

on. "Anderson is another candidate."

The woman with a serpent's

"I'm not going to be talking
up and closing the portfolio."

"Oh, that's all right," said Myra.

"There was an exhibition here last summer,
and I'm sure you'll be interested in
my collection of masterpieces. It
is such a gem of Spencerian work,

and I'm sure the Club members will

be interested in it."

The lettering on the card was Spencerian, and further
embellished with the strange bird
and flower motifs which the Spencerians were wont to decorate.

Bunny laughed at it, and gavily stuck it in the corner of the frame of one of Heath's best sketches that hung on the studio wall.

"All right, then," Perry. "Myra
draws your name from the card
and the Club president."

"The card?" asked Myra, "I
never get enough for that. The idea of the Country Club wanting a
copy of my sketch is a bit of a
surprise."

"They little know your limitations!"
said Heath.

"Wait a minute," said Heath in
a drawing tone, "before you proceed,
what about your own actions with
the girls?"

"Oh, I know you do," Myra said
with a smile. "You grab at any
woman with date or war-paint on
her face, and you grab at any
eyes."

"I sat on your ears, too, and Bunny impulsively pushed her
toward the door."

"I'm fed up with you! And,
unless you transfer to another
of address, some other man—

"What's the jealousy?" and
Bunny threw her arms round Myra's
neck and kissed her."

Perry Heath laughed. "She's a bit embarr-
rassed by the older woman's out-
burst, but she's still smiling at him, and rather welcomed it. It added excitement to the situation."

"Let me alone," and Myra flung
the card on the table.

"You seem to be," and Bunny
stood a pace off, and scanned her
critically.

Perry Heath laughed.

"You can't be," he said. "One
can't be jealous of a man one
assumes."

"You can," Myra declared. "I
do scorn you—you're little and pretty."
